The company is headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia. Schlotzsky's has more than 350 franchised and company-owned locations worldwide. Most of the places are in the southern and southwestern United States, but the company is expanding to areas across the country, particularly the north and southeast. [1] History In 1971, Don and Dolores Dissman founded the company at a small wall-hole store in Austin, Texas. [2] The initial menu consisted of a sandwich, called The Original, which consisted of mixed meats, cheeses and black olives in a freshly roasted bun. [3] It was based on the Muffuletta sandwich. [2] In 1981, the company had 100 franchise stores when real estate investors John and Jeff Wooley and Gary Bradley bought the company for less than $3 million. Bradley broke away from the Wooleys in 1982, with Bradley taking over the real estate business while the Wooleys remained the chain. The Original, Schlotzsky's signature sandwich The Wooleys expanded Schlotzsky's menu to include specialty pizzas, toasted wraps, salads, soups, and other items. [4] The Wooleys also made the company public on December 15, 1995, operating as BUNZ on NASDAQ. [5] The chain peaked in 2001 with 759 stores and more than $400 million in sales.[6] when sales in the same store began to stagnate. In 2003, the company recorded a loss of $11.7 million; As a result, Schlotzsky's board of directors relieved the Wooley brothers of day-to-day management on June 17, 2004 and appointed Sam Coats as the company's new CEO. [7] The Wooleys finally resigned from the board in July 2004. [8] On August 3, 2004, Schlotzsky ran for voluntary Chapter 11 protection at the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in San Antonio, Texas, reporting liabilities of approximately $71.3 million and assets of approximately $111.7 million. [9] The company ceased to operate publicly when Bobby Cox Companies acquired Schlotzsky's assets out of bankruptcy. [10] Under new ownership and management, Schlotzsky's spent two years strengthening its franchise operations and restructuring the brand. [12] The new owner operated the business under the corporate entity Schlotzsky's, Ltd., and began to expedite the menu. [13] Schlotzsky's reinforced franchise operations and new franchises license in Texas and other states. The company also planned to open several new corporate-owned stores. [14] On November 21, 2006, Schlotzsky's was acquired by Focus Brands, a subsidiary of private equity firm Roark Capital Group, a parent company of Moe's Southwest Grill, Carvel, Carvel, and Aunt Anne. [15] The following year, the company appointed Kelly Roddy as president, who joined Schlotzsky's H-E-B Grocery Company. [16] With Kelly on board, Schlotzsky planned for growth and a system-wide reimage,[17] which included updated restaurants, improved menus,[18] table service, and Cinnabon's addition. [19] The company remodeled locations across the country with a Lotz Better look, which included bright and bold colors, circular-themed furniture and décor, and playful slogans. [20] Austin Eatery of Schlotzsky In 2016, Schlotzsky's introduced a new restaurant chain called Schlotzsky's Austin Eatery, which targets Millennials with a menu with Austin-inspired food from the city. [21] The first location opened in Duluth, Georgia; other locations continued in a slow expansion. Much of the menu is the same with some slight variations to reflect the redesign, including sliders and studs. [22] The slogan's current slogans are All 'Round, Lotz Better, Lotz Better, Every Bite Lotz Better. Previous slogans include Funny Name. Serious sandwich, No substitutesky's and just a sandwich, it's so good. See also the list of underwater sandwich restaurantsReferences Schlotzsky's Growth Skyrockets. QSR Magazine. June 27, 2011.
